

PAGE: Edgar Mitchell and the Interstellar Team

Collected Contributions: Introduction

Edgar Mitchell died on the anniversary of the day he walked on the moon. I met him two days later. I was invited to join him and his team of other human dead, extraterrestrials, and hybrids, in the spiritual (etheric and astral worlds.) For three months, we met at 5:30 AM for a couple of hours and sometimes in the afternoons at 2:30 for an hour or so. Then I spent time transcribing my notes into my journals.

We continued to meet regularly on a looser schedule for a whole year – February 2016 through February 2017. The original blog – available on www.cosmicodyssey.info – is a presentation of the 300 pages from that year. The entries on the current website blog on the homepage often include Edgar and the Interstellar Team, as we continue to communicate regularly.

These new additions are the collected contributions of the main team members from that year. Each individual story paints a picture of a unique personality. The players are:
